

Eugenia Cheng

(b. late 1900s)

Cheng is from Britain and a Scientist in Residence at the School of the Art Institute of Chicago, having previously been tenured at the University of Sheffield. In addition to her research in category theory, she has authored several books for the general reader, including How to Bake Pi (2015) and X + Y: A Mathematician's Manifesto for Rethinking Gender (2020). Cheng's work to popularize mathematics includes the column Everyday Math in The Wall Street Journal, appearing on The Late Show with Stephen Colbert, and frequent public appearances to put focus on the power and beauty of the subject. Cheng is also a classical pianist who specializes in lieder.

This poster is part of the EvenQuads project, which combines innovative mathematical card games with learning about amazing women mathematicians. The project celebrates the 50th anniversary of the Association for Women in Mathematics.

If you want to learn more about EvenQuads, scan the QR code below.

EVENQUADS

