

Sandra Crespo (b. 1960s)

Born in the Dominican Republic, Sandra Crespo obtained her PhD from the University of British Columbia (1998) and is a Professor and the Associate Chair of graduate education in the Department of Teacher Education at Michigan State University. She is the first Latina to hold the rank of Professor in the department. Her research focuses on supporting mathematics educators in developing equitable and collaborative spaces and also on students' creativity and resilience.

Crespo was an invited speaker for the 14th International Congress on Mathematics Education. She serves as editor of Journal for Research in Mathematics Education (2019–2024) and has been appointed to the US Commission on Mathematics Instruction (2021–2024).

This poster is part of the EvenQuads project, which combines innovative mathematical card games with learning about amazing women mathematicians. The project celebrates the 50th anniversary of the Association for Women in Mathematics.

If you want to learn more about EvenQuads, scan the QR code below.

EVENQUADS

